

UNIVERSITY OF CENTRAL FLORIDA John T. Washington Center, Chick-fil-A

This project was a remodel of an existing Chick-fil-A into a more modernized and refreshed design, suitable to the vibrant and active campus lifestyle of the University of Central Florida. The work completed consisted of relocation of existing restaurant equipment and installation of new equipment, electrical work for the aforementioned equipment, new lighting, and new Chick-fil-A-brand selected finishes, including wall and floor tile, ceilings, wall finishes and paint. The kitchen was renovated for efficiency and was redesigned to include a Chick-fil-A-brand "centerline" layout to improve production. A new front service counter and updated dining areas were created to meet increasing demand and suit the ever-flowing student body as they progress through their daily activities.
